

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON SPIRITUALITY & SOCIAL WORK

*Spirituality and Scarcity:
The Role of Spirituality in Practice and Research in Scarce Times*

June 17th - 19th, 2010
University of Calgary
Calgary, AB

Keynote speakers:

Richard Wagamese & Dr. Alean Al-Krenawi

This international conference on spirituality and professional helping will be of interest to members of diverse helping professions as it brings together, from a variety of disciplines, academics, researchers, graduate students and practitioners to discuss and explore the important roles spirituality plays in responding to problems and challenges that come about in response to economic, environmental and social decline. The conference will enrich professional practice and scholarship through workshops, presentations, and conversation among participants from diverse professional backgrounds. The conference opens Thursday morning, June 17, with a full day of Workshops and concludes at 5pm Saturday, June 19. Registration Fee is $215; and accommodation is available at the University of Calgary. For information contact Dr. John Graham jrgraham@ucalgary.ca or Dr. Jeannette Waegemakers Schiff schiff@ucalgary.ca

The schedule of workshops and presentations, as well as a brief description of each, is published on the website of the Canadian Society for Spirituality and Social Work: <http://www.spiritualityandsocialwork.ca> go to Conference and then Program.

This international conference is sponsored by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council, the Canadian Society for Spirituality and Social Work, the Society for Spirituality and Social Work (USA), and the Schools of Social Work at University of Calgary, Laurentian, St. Thomas, Renison, Wilfrid Laurier and Arizona State Universities.